Modern views of God. If 18th- and 19th-century rationalism and scientific attacks on the idea of God were often called “the first Enlightenment” or “the first illumination,” in the 20th century a set of trends appeared that represented, to a broader public, a “second illumination.”. This included a rescue of the idea of God, even if it was not always compatible with previous Christian interpretations.

Christianity - Modern views of God | Britannica

God, in the Christian view, is a Being who enters into the history of the world ... working in it His general and special providence... giving to man that knowledge of Himself by which he is enabled to attain the highest ends of his own existence, and to co-operate freely in the carrying out of Divine ends; above all, discovering Himself as the God of Redemption, who ... executes...

Early Christian views of God (before the gospels were written) are reflected in Apostle Paul's statement in 1 Corinthians (), written ca. AD 53-54, i.e., about twenty years after the crucifixion of Jesus: for us there is but one God, the Father, from whom all things came and for whom we live; and there is but one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom all things came and through whom we live.

God in Christianity - Wikipedia

Throughout Scripture and history, God deals with us as gently as he can or as harshly as he must. No specific sins caused this virus. Nor are those who are afflicted with it more sinful than the...

COVID-19 Is Not God's Judgment | Christianity Today

The Christian God is a personal God. This does not mean that God is a human being, but that God has "personality" and the capability of both relationships with other personal beings. This is seen clearly in both the Old and New Testaments, in which God is described in strongly personal terms (father, shepherd, etc.) and establishes relationships with human beings.

The Christian God - ReligionFacts

The distinction becomes even sharper when we compare the Islamic god with the Christian doctrine of the Trinity. Christians down through the ages have declared that the Scriptures bear witness to one God who exists in three persons subsisting within a single essence.

Muslim and Christian Views of God - Focus on the Family

Christianity teaches that the universe was created through love by an intelligent power, namely the God of the Bible. Creation was purposeful, not arbitrary, and therefore the universe is not...

Christianity - Human Nature and the Purpose of Existence

The first chapter of the Jewish and Christian scriptures tells us that humanity is uniquely created to show forth the image of God in the world — to make visible the invisible. God does this not just in generic, androgynous humanity, but through two very similar but distinct types of humans: male and female.

The Christian View of God and the World by James Orr

A Christian understanding of God must commence with Who God is, and then proceed to what God does. Otherwise God's Being is established by His doing, and God is nothing more than a mechanical and functional principle of action that can be proceduralized for utilitarian purposes.

A Christian Understanding of God

Christian doctrine states that sin separates mankind from a holy and righteous God. However, Christ, by his sacrificial death, broke the power of sin and enabled men and women to live in confidence, knowing their sins are forgiven and that they are judged righteous in the sight of God.

The Bible gives us two truths regarding our stance towards politics and government. The first truth is that the will of God permeates and supersedes every aspect of life. It is God's will that takes precedence over everything and everyone (Matthew 6:33). God's plans and purposes are fixed, and His will is inviolable.

How should a Christian view politics? | GotQuestions.org

A "Christian worldview," then, is a comprehensive conception of the world from a Christian standpoint. An individual's worldview is his "big picture," a harmony of all his beliefs about the world. It is his way of understanding reality. One's worldview is the basis for making daily decisions and is therefore extremely important.
