The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers
has long been one
of the federal government's key
agencies in planning the uses of the nation's waterways and water resources. Though responsible for a range of water-related programs, the Corps's two traditional programs have been flood damage reduction and navigation enhancement. The

Where To Download

water resource needs of the nation, however, have for decades been shifting away from engineered control of watersheds toward restoration of ecosystem services and natural hydrologic variability. In response to these

Where To Download

shifting needs,
legislation was
enacted in 1990
which initiated the Corps's
involvement in ecological restoration, which is now on par with the Corps's
traditional flood
