The landscape of mood.
Levitan's work was a profound response to the lyrical charm of the Russian landscape. Levitan did not paint urban landscapes; with the exception of the View of Simonov Monastery (whereabouts unknown), mentioned by Nesterov, the city of Moscow appears only in the painting Illumination of the Kremlin.

Born into a poor Jewish family in Lithuania, Levitan was able to enroll at the Moscow School of Painting when aged only thirteen and made rapid progress, the great merchant collector Pavel Tretyakov buying one of his early paintings. In 1876 he sketched in the Crimea and during the summers of 1887 and 1890 he painted in the Volga region.

Isaak Levitan: Lyrical Landscape - Averil King - Google Books

In the lyrical landscapes of this period, Levitan takes particular care with the consonance of nature and the motivations of the human soul. The artist created an entire series of evening, night and moonlit landscapes, the times at which one is most at the mercy of one's own thoughts, memories, moods.
