Nicholas Agar, Liberal Eugenics: In Defence of Human Enhancement, Blackwell Publishing, 2004, 205pp, $21.95 (pbk), ISBN 1405123907. Reviewed by Michael Hauskeller, University of Exeter. The title of this clear, scientifically well informed and philosophically sophisticated study is slightly misleading. What Agar is primarily interested in and what he strives to defend is not so much human enhancement as reproductive freedom.

New eugenics, also known as liberal eugenics, advocates enhancing human characteristics and capacities through the use of reproductive technology and human genetic engineering. Those who advocate new eugenics generally think selecting or altering embryos should be left to the preferences of parents, rather than forbidden. New eugenics references eugenics, an ideology that promotes the genetic improvement of a given population by excluding groups of people which are deemed lesser.
