This Livery Agreement between Livery Yard and Horse Owner can be used when a livery yard takes in a horse for a private (non-commercial) horse owner. The document creates a contract between the Livery Yard Owner and the Horse Owner and contains provisions regarding payment, each party's responsibilities and how the contract can be terminated.

Livery Agreement between Livery Yard and Horse Owner

But the contract should be neatly typed and set out the broad agreement between the livery yard owner and the client and be signed by both. While a valid contract, creating legal obligations which can be enforced by a court, exists from the time you take payment for providing a service, an oral contract relies on memory and interpretation and can always be disputed.
