Scandalous Housewives: Mumbai, written by Madhuri Banerjee, is a story about honest and brave housewives in Mumbai. These women are in search of love and are unafraid to follow their hearts blindfolded by rejecting their present lives. Life in Mumbai is pretty hectic and above all, it is monotonous at times, especially with people working like a machine. The story in the book, Scandalous Housewives: Mumbai, revolves particularly around a residential area in Mumbai known as the Sapphire Towers, which is similar to any other place in Mumbai. Some high-profile people of Mumbai live here. The book brings to limelight the lives of housewives and their daily routine activities. This work is carried out with precision, so much so that one can adjust their watch according to their work. But this is just the outer cover and as one digs deeper, some graciously hidden secrets are uncovered. The author has given examples about this monotonous life and the reason why these illegitimate activities are carried out. Scandalous Housewives: Mumbai gives us an example of Gita, a mother of two young daughters, who is bored with her daily monotonous way of living and is desperate to escape from it. The book also describes a Gujarati housewife, who is a mother but is also addicted to sex and is even ready to pay for it.

Madhuri gives us a peek into the modern Indian housewife who isn't afraid to love and follows her heart.' - Huma Qureshi. 'Why do romantic relationships fade away? Does the magic slowly die? Or do lovers simply wake up one morning realizing they are done? Is it a trick that time plays on happy couples or is it something more profound, an evolution perhaps, of our feelings and our needs?' Imagine there is a person you know nothing about, who is slowly destroying your marriage. Imagine there is a stranger who enters your life and makes you realize you are living a lie. Imagine there is a love so deep that you need to sacrifice everything you have to save it. Imagine you find out your partner is cheating on you. What will you do? Naina, Ayesha, Kavita and Kaajal are four women who know nothing about each other and live cocooned in their individual worlds. Until one day, they're forced to reckon with shocking truths they never imagined! Their desires haunt them, provoke them and make them fight to choose a new path in their lives. Will these women survive their stories of passion, betrayal and pain? Bestselling author and film writer Madhuri Banerjee brings to you a new romantic thriller that interweaves varied stories of women and their passions, to show us how all relationships ultimately crash into each other.
