"Mistakes were made" is an expression that is commonly used as a rhetorical device, whereby a speaker acknowledges that a situation was handled poorly or inappropriately but seeks to evade any direct admission or accusation of responsibility by not specifying the person who made the mistakes. The acknowledgement of "mistakes" is framed in an abstract sense, with no direct reference to who made the mistakes. A less evasive construction might be along the lines of "I made mistakes" or "John Doe ma

In the following sections, we present some of the greatest mistakes made throughout human history. These have been presented not to highlight the extent of human folly, rather, they are meant to be viewed as lessons from which we all should learn, and try to ensure that mistakes such as these do not happen again in the future.

Mistakes Were Made by Me. Most Americans know they are supposed to say we learn from our mistakes, but deep down, they don't believe it for a minute. They think that mistakes mean you are stupid; One lamentable consequence of the belief that mistakes equal stupidity is that when people do make a mistake, they don't learn from it.
